UNDERCOVER LAWYER

Come and see Tony Laumberg's laugh-a-minute 10th play, Undercover Lawyer, in the brand new 100 seat theatre at the TAP Gallery this August.

Espionage, lies and deception come to the quiet, leafy suburb of St Ives as we follow pompous CBD lawyer, Henry Crowley, who is convinced by a sexy, young female ASIO agent, Pamela Goodbody, to spy on his neighbour. But little does he know that ASIO suspects Goodbody of being a double agent and enlists his ever inebriated wife, Margaret, to spy on him!

Henry goes deep undercover to unearth evidence that his neighbour is a foreign spy but it doesn't take long for him to find himself way over his head in trouble. Who will save the day? Will Henry's hourly rate have to be increased?

The play runs at the TAP Gallery, Darlinghurst from 5 to 29 August 2010.

Performances are on Wednesdays to Fridays at 7.00 pm, Saturdays at 7.30 pm and Sundays at 4.00 pm.
